ING GRANTS FOR 2012 CLASS PROJECTS

ING UNSUNG HEROES PROGRAM INVITES K-12 EDUCATORS TO APPLY FOR 2012 CLASS PROJECT AWARDS

For the past fifteen years, the ING Unsung Heroes awards program has recognized K-12 educators in the United States for their innovative teaching methods, creative educational projects, and ability to positively influence the children they teach. Since honoring the first "unsung hero" in 1996, ING has awarded nearly $3.8 million to nearly 1,600 educators across the country.

Educators are invited to submit grant applications describing class projects they have initiated or would like to pursue.

Each year, one hundred educators are selected to receive $2,000 each to help fund their innovative class projects. Three of those individuals will be chosen to receive awards of an additional $5,000, $10,000, and $25,000. All awards must be used to further the projects within the school or school system.

All K-12 education professionals are eligible to apply. Applicants must be employed by an accredited K-12 public or private school located in the U.S. and be a full-time educator, teacher, principal, paraprofessional, or classified staff member working on a project with demonstrated effectiveness in improving student learning.

Complete program guidelines, the application form, and information on previously funded projects are available at the ING Web site (<http://ing.us/about-ing/citizenship/childrens-education/ing-unsung-heroes>).

Deadline: April 30, 2012

AMERICAN LEGACY FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

The American Legacy Foundation, which works to reduce tobacco use among priority populations in the United States, is accepting applications for the Dr. Alma S. Adams Scholarship for Outreach and Health Communications.

The foundation prioritizes populations that are disproportionately targeted by the tobacco industry, or that lack the tools and resources to combat smoking in their communities. These populations include residents of low-income communities, U.S. racial/ethnic minorities (African American, Alaska Native, American Indian, Asian, Hispanic/Latino, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander), gay/lesbian/bi-sexual/transgender communities, and other populations that have significantly higher than average smoking prevalence rates.

Named for founding legacy board member Dr. Alma S. Adams, the program will award two $5,000 scholarships to students pursuing undergraduate or graduate studies at an accredited institution of higher education in the U.S. The awards will be granted on the basis of the applicant's record of commitment to community service on behalf of an underserved community, preferably related to tobacco prevention and/or control, and their use of the visual arts, media, creative writing, or other creative endeavor to convey culturally appropriate health messages aimed at raising awareness of tobacco's harmful impact.

Applications will be accepted until April 30, 2012.

For complete program guidelines and the application form, visit the Legacy Web site (<http://www.legacyforhealth.org/adams-scholarship.aspx>).

Deadline: April 30, 2012

HARDEST HIT FUND

President Obama established the Hardest Hit FundSM in February 2010 to provide targeted aid to families in states hit hard by the economic and housing market downturn. Each state housing agency gathered public input to implement programs designed to meet the distinct challenges struggling homeowners in their state are facing. States were chosen either because they are struggling with unemployment rates at or above the national average or steep home price declines greater than 20 percent since the housing market downturn.

Hardest Hit Fund programs vary state to state, but may include the following:

- Mortgage payment assistance for unemployed or underemployed homeowners
- Principal reduction to help homeowners get into more affordable mortgages
- Funding to eliminate homeowners' second lien loans
- Help for homeowners who are transitioning out of their homes and into more affordable places of residence.

Each state's plan is included below. For more information about a specific plan, please contact the state housing agency directly.

MORTGAGE RELIEF (HARP 2.0 FOR UNDERWATER HOME LOANS)

HARP 2.0 – Do you qualify for mortgage relief?

By Alison Paoli

The HARP 2.0 refinance program will become widely available to underwater homeowners today and is expected to bring mortgage relief to those who are current on their home loan, but have been unable to refinance into today's historically low mortgage rates because of their negative equity status.

The full implementation of the revamped HARP 2.0 program, which was initially announced by President Obama in late October 2011, has taken several months to come to fruition. And while in recent months it's been available on a manual basis and limited to just the homeowner's current servicer, the series of changes that the computerized version of the program has undergone will dramatically increase the volume and speed of applications processed. (Compare flying 100 people across the ocean versus 100 people swimming across it).

To be eligible for a HARP refinance, you can either use this HARP eligibility calculator with detailed eligibility explanations or follow the general guidelines below:

1. Your loan must be owned or guaranteed by Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac. If you are unsure, you can check both Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac's websites or you can call their toll-free numbers for confirmation.

Fannie Mae: <http://www.fanniemae.com/loanlookup/> 1-800-7FANNIE (8 am to 8 pm ET)
Freddie Mac: <https://www3.freddie.mac.com/corporate/> 1-800-FREDDIE (8 am to 8 pm ET)

2. You must have closed your current loan on or before May 31, 2009.

3. You must not have made a late payment within the past six months and have had no more than one late payment within the past 12 months.

4. Your loan must fall under the current conforming loan limits. If you are unsure, you can find out here: <http://themortgagereports.com/loan-limits/>

If you met the general guidelines, what's next?

Zillow's Director of Mortgages, Erin Lantz, recommends you start by contacting your current loan servicer to see if you are eligible.

"Your current servicer should be able to tell you if your loan qualifies for a HARP refinance and can help you apply for it. However, just like a regular mortgage program, it makes sense to shop around and compare rates, fees and lender service levels. So start with your current servicer, but it is also a good idea to check out at least one other lender."

TAX PREP RESOURCES

Free Tax Help Is Still Available

by Janet Novack Forbes Staff

The Forbes 2012 Tax Guide

With the minutes ticking away until Tax Day, my inbox is rapidly filling up with questions about where to find free tax help.

So first, an obligatory stern talking to in my mom voice: free is not always good and it's not always better. Sometimes free is just free.

That said, I understand that it costs money to use a professional preparer. I also understand that not everyone is in the position to pay for professional tax services. That doesn't mean, however, that you should settle for subpar services. Good free (or low cost) tax preparation services and software are available. Here are some to consider:

IRS Free File. The IRS wants you to use Free File. I know this because they send me a lot of emails telling me so. I also know because they've invested some serious resources into designing a clever logo with an even more clever slogan:

EVERYONE is Eligible to Free File!

Let Free File do the hard work for you with brand-name software or online Fillable Forms. You can prepare and e-file your federal return for free. Participating software companies make their products available through the IRS. Some also support state tax returns.

And they also shout at taxpayers on their web site:

Since it's in all caps, you know they're serious.

All snark aside, Free File is a really great resource for taxpayers. There are two versions of Free File: one, a free, federal income tax prep and electronic filing program for eligible taxpayers and the other, Free File Fillable Forms.

IRS VITA. If you've read the blog over the years, you know I'm a big fan of VITA, or the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program. VITA is manned by trained volunteers. I used to help coordinate the local VITA program at our senior center and I can vouch for the caliber of volunteers. I can also vouch for the fact that volunteers don't get a penny for their time but do appreciate cookies (clears throat). The VITA Program is generally targeted to taxpayers who make $50,000 or less and have a relatively simple return. To locate a VITA site across the country, call 1.800.906.9887 or find a site online.

For specific VITA sites, check out this list of contacts:

New Orleans: Loyola University New Orleans' College of Law runs the local VITA program.

New York (State): New York State offers a comprehensive list of VITA sites (downloads as a pdf) indicating the languages spoken and whether e-file is available.

North Carolina (Triangle area): There are a number of VITA sites available. For more info, check out this pretty comprehensive list.

Philadelphia: Community Legal Services offers a few free tax prep options including VITA; Villanova

University also runs a program in the nearby suburbs.

San Antonio: there is a local VITA website and you can follow them on twitter @VITASanAntonio.
Silicon Valley area: you can find your site and more information here.

IRS TCE. The IRS offers free preparation for those ages 60 and above through its Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE). TCE sites tend to focus on tax issues related to pensions and retirement plans. Like the VITA program, TCE centers are staffed with volunteers. As part of the program, the AARP offers Tax-Aide counseling program at more than 7,000 sites nationwide during the filing season. To find a Tax-Aide site, call 1.888.227.7669 or check out the AARP's website.

IRS Facilitated Self-Assistance. Apparently the IRS used up its branding budget on the Free File slogan and logo because the branding on “Facilitated Self-Assistance” clearly needs some work. But the idea of the program is a good one: if taxpayers have a simple tax return and need a little help or do not have access to a computer, they can visit one of the participating tax preparation sites and an IRS-certified volunteer will guide them through the process. You can find a list of locations here (downloads as a pdf).

AFTC Help. The Armed Forces Tax Council consists of tax program coordinators for the Marine Corps, Air Force, Army, Navy and Coast Guard. At tax time, volunteers work with members of the military and their families to provide free tax preparation assistance with respect to military specific tax issues, such as combat zone tax benefits and those pesky new Earned Income Tax Credit guidelines. Since this program is coordinated through VITA, call 1.800.906.9887 or find a site online.

Churches, law firms and generally good guys and gals. Not all free tax preparation sites are IRS-sponsored. Sometimes, the private sector offers free tax services. Check your local newspaper, radio and TV to see if there are any free tax prep services offered near you. But be smart and ask questions before you hand over your financial information. The IRS has issued a recent warning about upticks in fraudulent schemes, especially those aimed at the elderly (similar to the ones circulating last year).

Commercial/retail software packages. Most of the popular software packages like TurboTax, CompleteTax, H&R Block, Tax Slayer, TaxACT and Jackson-Hewitt, offer a free bare bones tax preparation option. In most cases, this means a basic return (like a 1040-EZ) or a limited form 1040. Extras – like exile and state returns – may cost you. As with anything, read the fine print.

So there you have it. No excuses. Go, get your taxes done. And you're welcome.
